1. A mother has a challenge of her children easily accessing her cosmetics and jewelry. As a result, she has often lost or found such items damaged. She has thought of having a lockable storage unit shown in figure 1, which has a single shelf that can be securely attached to her bed to keep her cosmetics and jewelry.

She has requested you to first make a model showing how members A, B, C, D, and the shelf can be assembled using different suitable strong joints before you make the storage unit.
